JEFFREY SOBEL

Old Bridge, NJ | 908-692-6022 | jessassociates@optonline.net
linkedin.com/in/jeffrey-michael-sobel

CHIEF COMMERCIAL OFFICER | COMMERCIAL GROWTH & REVENUE EXECUTIVE

SUMMARY

Commercial growth executive with extensive experience building revenue, developing markets, launching technology products, and helping emerging and growth-stage companies turn strategic opportunities into measurable business results. My career spans technology, consumer electronics, startups, and consulting, with a consistent focus on sales leadership, business development, go-to-market strategy, channel expansion, and commercial growth. I have worked closely with founders, CEOs, and senior leadership teams to develop practical growth strategies, strengthen sales organizations, expand distribution, and bring products to market. Through Jess Associates, I have advised and supported more than 20 startup and emerging companies, contributing to approximately $100M–$150M in cumulative revenue growth through market expansion, commercialization, and distribution development. My experience combines strategic thinking with hands-on commercial execution. I have built national sales teams, developed relationships with enterprise buyers, retailers, distributors, and strategic partners, and led market-development initiatives across retail, e-commerce, and B2B environments. Earlier in my career, I contributed to significant growth at organizations including Toshiba America, Star Micronics, and Fujitsu America. I bring particular strength to organizations seeking a commercially minded leader who can identify growth opportunities, build the strategy and relationships needed to pursue them, and turn that strategy into execution. My background is especially well suited to companies navigating growth, commercialization, market expansion, organizational development, and the next stage of their my background in education and psychology has also strengthened my ability to coach and mentor executives and sales teams, build trusted customer relationships, and translate those relationships into sustainable commercial growth.

CORE COMPETENCIES

- Commercial Strategy & Revenue Growth
- Go-to-Market Strategy & Execution
- Enterprise Sales & Business Development
- Market Expansion & Growth Strategy
- Strategic Partnerships & Channel Development
- Revenue Generation & Sales Performance
- Executive Stakeholder Engagement
- Product Commercialization & Market Launch
- Strategic Account & Relationship Management
- Sales Organization Leadership & Development
- Startup & Growth-Stage Leadership
- Channel & Distribution Strategy
- Customer focused professional organizations
- Revenue Forecasting & Pipeline Management
- Negotiation & Strategic Influence
- Commercial Scaling & Organizational Growth
- Commercial Operations & Performance Management
- Sales Strategy & Territory Development
- Cross-Functional Executive Leadership
- Founder & C-Suite Strategic Advisory

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Chief Revenue Officer | Consulting Engagement — 2022 to Present
iPowerUp — New Jersey

- Lead the company's commercial growth and revenue strategy, helping reposition the business for scalable expansion across emerging mobility, solar, and IoT technology markets. The company is currently pre-revenue and preparing for launch within 30–60 days.
- Develop and execute national go-to-market and sales strategies targeting major retailers, telecommunications providers, military accounts, specialty channels, and strategic commercial buyers.
- Expand market access by developing distribution strategies, channel relationships, and commercial opportunities that increase product visibility and support broader customer adoption.
- Recruit and coordinate senior executive talent, including a former Apple CMO and fractional CFO, strengthening leadership capabilities and supporting the company's organizational and growth objectives.
- Partner closely with founders and senior leadership to translate business priorities into revenue initiatives, market-development strategies, sales execution plans, and scalable commercial opportunities.

Founder | Executive Vice President | Lead Consultant 1992 to Present
Jess Associates Old Bridge, NJ

- Advised founders and executive leadership teams on commercial strategy, revenue growth, go-to-market execution, product commercialization, market expansion, channel development, and sales organization strategy.
- Generated approximately $100M–$150M in cumulative revenue growth across client engagements through strategic market expansion, distribution development, commercialization, and revenue-generation initiatives.
- Helped emerging companies progress from approximately $1M–$3M in startup revenue to sustainable multi-million-dollar growth by developing and executing practical commercial and market-development strategies.
- Built and deployed specialized national sales teams of 8–10 category-focused professionals, expanding geographic coverage while strengthening relationships with retailers, distributors, enterprise buyers, and strategic partners.
- Developed and executed retail, e-commerce, and B2B channel strategies that expanded market access, increased product visibility, and accelerated adoption for emerging technology manufacturers.
- Partnered directly with founders and senior executives to identify new revenue opportunities, strengthen market positioning, improve sales execution, and establish scalable commercial processes.

Sales Executive 1990 to 1992
Fujitsu America East Coast Region

- Expanded East Coast distribution channels for hard drives and printer products, generating approximately $3M–$5M in regional revenue within two years through strategic VAR and distributor partnerships.
- Built and managed relationships with value-added resellers, enterprise distributors, and commercial technology buyers, strengthening channel performance and increasing product adoption.
- Executed territory growth strategies that expanded market coverage, increased product visibility, and strengthened the company's presence across key regional technology markets.
- Developed and supported channel-development initiatives that improved access to strategic accounts and created new opportunities for revenue growth.
- Collaborated with distributors and channel partners to strengthen sales execution, improve market penetration, and accelerate adoption of technology products.
- Supported broader regional sales and channel expansion initiatives during a period of strategic transition within the organization.

Regional Sales Executive 1987 to 1990
Star Micronics New York, NY

- Supported the national launch of innovative 9-pin printer technology, contributing to more than $20M in company sales within three years through strategic market development and channel expansion.
- Drove Northeast regional revenue performance, generating approximately 33% of total company sales through strong distributor, retailer, and enterprise relationships.
- Built and strengthened strategic relationships with technology distributors, commercial buyers, retailers, and channel partners, expanding market penetration and accelerating product adoption.
- Developed regional sales strategies that increased product visibility, strengthened channel performance, and supported broader market expansion.
- Promoted adoption of new technology products across commercial and retail markets, helping strengthen brand recognition and contribute to rapid business growth.
- Expanded regional market coverage by developing customer and distribution relationships that improved sales opportunities and supported sustained revenue performance.

Sales Executive 1984 to 1987
Toshiba-America ISD New York, NY

- Generated approximately $7M–$10M in sales during the first two years, increasing to approximately $15M–$27M by the third year through enterprise sales, corporate partnerships, and strategic account development.
- Supported the U.S. commercial launch of Toshiba computers, laptops, and 24-pin printers, helping establish market presence and accelerate product adoption.
- Built and managed relationships with corporate technology buyers, distributors, enterprise customers, and channel partners throughout the Northeast.
- Developed territory and market-entry strategies that expanded customer reach, strengthened distribution, and increased adoption across commercial technology markets.
- Identified and developed new business opportunities with corporate and enterprise buyers, contributing to sustained regional revenue growth and market penetration.

LEADERSHIP AND COMMERCIAL VALUE

- COMMERCIAL GROWTH: Track record of identifying revenue opportunities, developing sales strategies, expanding distribution, and building commercial pathways for emerging and growth-stage businesses.
- GO-TO-MARKET & MARKET EXPANSION: Experienced translating products and business strategies into practical market-entry plans across retail, e-commerce, B2B, enterprise, distributor, and specialty channels.
- STRATEGIC PARTNERSHIPS: Strong relationship builder with extensive experience developing relationships with distributors, retailers, enterprise buyers, technology companies, founders, and senior executives.
- STARTUP & SCALE-UP LEADERSHIP: Extensive experience working directly with founders and leadership teams to establish commercial direction, strengthen organizational capabilities, develop sales infrastructure, and prepare companies for growth.
- PRODUCT COMMERCIALIZATION: Experienced taking technology products from launch strategy through market development, channel expansion, customer acquisition, and broader commercial adoption.
- EXECUTIVE LEADERSHIP: Trusted advisor and commercial leader capable of operating directly with founders, CEOs, senior executives, and other stakeholders to solve growth challenges and convert strategic priorities into execution.

EDUCATION

- Master of Science (MS), Education — Long Island University
- Graduate Studies, Psychology — New School for Social Research
- Doctoral Studies, Education Administration — Yeshiva University
- Bachelor of Arts (BA) — Long Island University

COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT

- Children's Tumor Foundation
- MS Foundation